Fr. Berrigan: apathetic reactions to war dehumanizing

by Joseph Guppy

Society's apathetic reactions to the horrors of war are more dehumanizing than the war itself, Fr. Phil Berrigan, activist Josephite priest, told a Seattle audience in St. Mark's Cathedral Tuesday night.

Fr. Berrigan spoke about the problems caused by the Vietnam war and its effects on the American people.

"What happens to us when we stop yelling about murder and collective rape—both synonyms for modern war? What happens to us as human beings when there is a collective numbness by society?" he asked.

FR. BERRIGAN said that the Vietnam war, more than anything else, has divided us as a people and we "must reconcile this division."

He related our foreign policy in Vietnam to the many domestic problems that grew worse during the war years.

"It seems to me," Fr. Berrigan stated, "that the more we terrorized the Vietnamese, the more we killed at home. The more we spent in Vietnam, the more wasteful we became in our own affluence and over-consumption. The more we destroyed and defoliated Vietnam the more we polluted our own country."

HE CALLED Vietnam a "racist war."

"I cannot imagine us terrorizing a white nation like Sweden or Denmark for so many years," he said. "Likewise, our own racial problems have festered."

As we ignored the illegal jailings of political prisoners in Vietnam, our own justice system deteriorated by handing down bad indictments and by holding absurd conspiracy trials, Fr. Berrigan said, making obvious reference to his own Catonsville Nine and Harrisburg Seven trials.

THE NOBEL Peace Prize nominee does not acknowledge that U.S. involvement in the Vietnam war is over. "The cease-fire is just an excuse for staying in," he said.

Fr. Berrigan said that the more war became our national priority, the more of a "joyless people" we became. We are becoming "frustrated, cynical, hopeless and convinced of public impotence," he said.

He likened our situation to that of the "good Germans of World War II." We do not want to participate in difficult solutions, instead we "create demagogue leaders and instant heroes."

HE EMPHASIZED that we have become used to a "pointless system" and that our lack of resistance is destroying the people of this country. He proposed that man look to God for the answer.

Fr. Berrigan reminded the audience of the two greatest commandments: love of God and love of neighbor. After contemplation of these commandments we will be ready to face the problems.

Currently on parole after serving 39 months for his conviction in the Catonsville Nine trial, Fr. Berrigan was in town to attend a festival sponsored by the Campus Christian Ministry of Western Washington State College in Bellingham.

FR. BERRIGAN has been active in the anti-war movement for many years. According to Time magazine, he joined the Josephites, an order dedicated to service among minorities, in 1950.

He was assigned to work in New Orleans and Newburgh, N.Y., where he irritated his superiors with his strong stands on the war and civil rights. In 1965 he was "banished" to Baltimore where he formed the group, "Clergy and Lay Concerned About the War" with several other interested Catholics, including his brother, Fr. Daniel Berrigan.

IN 1967, the Berrigan group poured a mixture of cow, human and duck blood on draft records in Chicago. This resulted in the conspiracy trial of the Catonsville Nine. The brothers were convicted, but won much national sympathy for their defense directed against the Vietnam war.

In the national press, Fr. Phil Berrigan has been generally overshadowed by his more flamboyant brother, Dan. For example, Fr. Dan Berrigan avoided capture by federal agents for the destruction of the draft records for several months while surfacing occasionally at speaking rallies.

PRESENTLY, Fr. Dan Berrigan is teaching at the Union Theological Seminary in New York, after serving several years in federal penitentiaries.

More recently, Fr. Phil Berrigan and others of the Harrisburg Seven were tried on charges of conspiring to kidnap Henry Kissinger and to blow up heating tunnels in Washington, D.C.

Eventually, the government dropped all charges except that of smuggling letters out of a federal penitentiary.

Fr. Berrigan was sentenced to two years. The conviction is currently under appeal.

Experts to analyze U.S. foreign policies

Three foreign policy specialists will speak to S.U. students and faculty at 11 a.m. Monday in Schafer Auditorium of the A. A. Lemieux Library.

The speakers, all experts in different foreign policy fields, are primarily sponsored by the S.U. political science department.

Co-sponsoring the speakers are the Council of Organization, United Nations Association and World Affairs Council.

DISCUSSING China's increasing role in U.S. international relations will be Leo J. Moser, director of Republic of China Affairs in the U.S. State Department's Bureau of Asian and Pacific Affairs.

Speaking on the changing importance of Japan will be John F. Knowles, visiting fellow at Stanford University and member of the Foreign Service since 1951.

An analysis of the Soviet Union and its role with the U.S., particularly in Europe, will be conducted by Martha C. Mautner, intelligence research specialist in the State Department's Bureau of Intelligence and Research.

THE PURPOSE of the meeting, part of a series begun in 1963 by the State Department, is to encourage urban citizens to discuss U.S. foreign policy with knowledgeable, professional U.S. diplomats.

Another meeting will be held for the public at 8 p.m. Tuesday in Schafer Auditorium. Admission is free.

Engaged or married couples

Counseling and Testing forming small groups

The Counseling and Testing Center is interested in forming a small group for engaged or married couples.

The purpose of the group will be to share and discuss marital relationships, communication styles and personal satisfactions or frustrations.

DAVID ELDER and Jeananne Oliphant, of the Counseling and Testing Center, attempted this type of group last quarter but not enough people attended to make the sessions into what was actually intended, Louise Dunbar, a member last quarter, explained.

"They wanted it to be more of group sensory experience, more group interaction and feedback," Ms. Dunbar said.

She was one of four people, two couples, who attended last quarter's sessions and feels that they "got a lot out of them."

THE SESSIONS were mainly "talking about relationships, problems and the way we relate to each other," she added.

She felt that it was valuable in that Elder and Ms. Oliphant can "see things in our relationship that we can't see ourselves."

The group is open to those couples who feel their relationship is in trouble as well as to couples who feel happy with their relationship but would like further growth.

ELDER AND Ms. Oliphant would like to see at least four couples in the group which will meet one afternoon a week for eight weeks.

Students interested in participating should notify the Counseling and Testing Center, Pigott 502, 626-5846.

Rally to protest Nixon's cutbacks

A mass rally protesting financial cutbacks in social and health services in the Seattle area that have been made by the Nixon Administration is scheduled for 11 a.m. today at the Federal Court House at 5th and Madison.

Participants meet at Campion Tower on 11th and Jefferson at that time and then will march to the rally site.

THE RALLY highlights Human Unity Day set aside last week by Mayor Wes Uhlman, who also stated that Seattle will lose about $97.8 million from these cutbacks.

Day-care and vocational programs and students are directly affected by the cutbacks. Students will not have the National Defense Student Loans to help fund their education because they are being eliminated.

Following the rally, a meeting with national legislators with influence in Congress has been scheduled.

Fr. J. Michael Holland, pastor of the Immaculate Conception Church, is chairman of the rally.

notes from the chaplains

The chaplain's office is offering several religious programs this quarter.

The spring quarter Search is scheduled for May 4-6 at Holy Rosary in West Seattle. Applications are now being accepted in the chaplain's office, Pigott 301.

SPRING recollection days are being planned for sometime in April and May. Those interested should contact the chaplain's office.

A Pre-Can Day has been set for May 12 at FRED House, 2601 Broadway E. at Roanoke. Couples must pre-register by calling Bob and Elaine Nichol, 323-6963. Fee is $5 per couple. Participants are asked to bring sack lunches.

For those interested in volunteer work, opportunities are available to work in the Mercer Island Convalescent Center or Fircrest, a home for mentally retarded children.

Those interested in the Convalescent Center should contact Steve Acheson, 232-6283; while those interested in Fircrest are asked to notify Mike reliability?

Connelley, 525-4280.

To the editor:

First-off, let me admit that I have never been to an R.O.T.C. class, nor have I ever seen an R.O.T.C. machine gun or rocket launcher. I'm sorry to have been such a great source of misinformation. I have seen the light and now realize that military science classes are not held "underground" for any reason which I might have previously suspected.

However, when R.O.T.C. questions the reliability of the sources of my article, it questions the reliability of its own cadets as thoroughly brainwashed propagators of the R.O.T.C. ideology.

BEFORE I wrote my repugnant article, I had been listening to some R.O.T.C. students ejaculate over the equipment stored beneath "the Chief". Of course, I should have realized that they were only referring to mock-ups, only children of big things to come.

I should have understood that they were talking about an electric machine gun and simulated rocket launchers. Please forgive me.

Why now, I can only speak praise. Such remarkable toys that can give our R.O.T.C. men the whole of that realistic and sublime "Feeling" without the conventional hassles of post-fun clean-up and moral scruples.

R.O.T.C. student John Cummins replied that the article was incorrect on matters of the program's equipment and ideals. I don't know why a member of the R.O.T.C. program responded to my letter because the letter was not written to R.O.T.C. The article was written to those who responded so energetically to the abortion issue; and to these people, it asked some questions:

HOW CAN ANYONE WHO DISDAINS ABORTION, ENTHANASIA, AND CAPITAL PUNISHMENT, IN THE NAME OF BEING AGAINST KILLING, IGNORE WAR?

HOW CAN YOU COMPLAIN ABOUT A PROFESSOR WHOSE OPINION IS THAT ABORTION MIGHT SOLVE SOME PROBLEMS; AND AT THE SAME TIME, IGNORE AN ENTIRE DEPARTMENT OF YOUR OWN SCHOOL THAT DEALS IN THE SCIENCE AND PHILOSOPHY OF MURDER?

WHATEVER HAPPENED TO THE OLD BIBLE TEACHING ABOUT TURNING THE OTHER CHEEK?

We all know that no one can defeat a person who refuses to fight. At the same time, I don't claim that I, or anyone else, can be perfectly non-violent or perfectly anything, for that matter. All I'm saying is we should watch out for obvious contradictions in our doctrine.

Let me salute those who have made their "choice" on this highly personal and soul-searching matter. Let us waste no more of Forever arguing whether this decision is correct.

Are you man enough? What can I say but, "I give."
Steve Harrison

Chieftains split latest golf action; place first, then slip to fourth

In a week's span, the S.U. golf team won a match and placed fourth in their own tournament.

The match, played last Friday at Sahalee Golf and Country Club, pitted S.U. against the University of Washington Huskies.

THE TOTAL team scoring gave the Chieftains 10 and a half points to the Huskies seven and a half.

Jim Barnes fired a 78 to take all three points in his match with Craig Matson and led the way to the win.

In other one-on-one competition, four Chiefs came away with either wins or splits in scoring.

Keith Williams equaled Jim Irvin with one and a half points, Max Norgart edged Gary Sater 2-1, Greg Segai out did Scott McDougall 2-1 and Ed Jonson split his match with Joe Runte with one and a half.

Steve Johnsen of the U.W. won the medalist honors.

IN THE S.U. Intercollegiate golf tournament, played Monday and Tuesday at the Alderbrook Yacht and Country Club, the Chiefs fared well enough to take fourth in a field of 12.

Craig Griswold of the University of Oregon wielded his clubs expertly to reap the individual title. With this, he led the Ducks to the championship.

The Chieftains finished with a team total of 1161, behind the U.O., Washington State and U.W.

Individually, Jim Barnes captured sixth place with a three-round total of 227; Keith Williams took the number 10 spot with a cumulative 228.

With three players coming in with 227, Williams actually tied with Mark Running, of Washington State, for eighth.

The squad will travel to Bellingham next Friday to take on the Western Washington golf team.

Gymnasts grab first

S.U.'s fledgling women's gymnastics team has come of age.

Last month, in a meet with squads representing Washington State University and Central Washington State College, the gymnasts came away with first place in the team standings.

IN THE UNEVEN parallel bar competition, S.U.'s Monica Brown, Margaret Hagen and Sue Irwin placed first, second and fourth respectively.

Ms. Hagen captured third in the vaulting contest; Ms. Irwin took fourth.

The floor exercises gave Ms. Brown fourth place and rendered Ms. Irwin fifth.

S.U. RAN AWAY with the top three spots on the balance beam with the performances of Ms. Brown, Ms. Irwin and Ms. Hagen respectively.

These same women also took the top three all-around honors at the meet.

Other team members include Eileen Parent and Josie Rauen.

The next competition scheduled for the gymnasts is with Green River Community College.

The meet is set for April 14 at 2 p.m. in the south court of the Connolly P.E. Center.

The public is welcome.

Deadlines, meeting set by intramurals office

A mandatory meeting for all captains of intramural slow-pitch softball teams is scheduled for 6:30 p.m. tomorrow in room 155 of the Connolly P.E. Center. All teams must be represented.

Game schedules will be distributed and rules will be discussed.

The deadline for both intramural slow-pitch softball and co-rec inner-tube basketball rosters is today.

All individual entries for handball, pickleball, squash, table tennis and badminton must be in by tomorrow.

Rosters and entries are accepted in the intramurals office, room 138 of the Connolly P.E. Center.

Take two years off this summer.

With the Army ROTC Two-Year Program.

Army ROTC usually takes four years of college. But you can do it in two.

If, for example, you couldn't take Army ROTC during your first two years of college.

Or if you just didn't want to take Army ROTC before. But now you recognize the benefits.

You start the Two-Year Program by going to our six-week Basic Camp the summer following your sophomore year.

Camp—a little classroom work; some challenging physical training—replaces the Basic Course you would have taken during your first two years of college. You're well-paid for this six-week catch-up.

Then, after camp, you complete your Advanced Course during your junior and senior years.

Maybe you'll decide that the chance to get real management experience earlier than most people will be worth a lot later on.

Maybe you can use the $100 per month subsistence allowance you will get for up to 10 months of each school year.

Maybe qualifying for two careers simultaneously—military or civilian—is insurance against job uncertainties.

Or, maybe the opportunity for an Army ROTC scholarship is exciting.

The Army ROTC Two-Year Program is another chance for a better career, through Army ROTC.

Talk over the Two-Year Program with the Professor of Military Science at your school. Or use this coupon. There's no obligation.

Army ROTC. The more you look at it, the better it looks.
